Ten Cents

The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The President's Men

Republican leaders are still in shock over the failure of their incumbent president to win the election.

They should be. They are the ones who gave faulty advice to President Ford. They mis-read the man and they mis-read the people.

No man is capable of handling an operation as big and complex as the business of the United States alone. The president must rely on professional advisors. Jimmy Carter's advisors were better than Mr. Ford's. Mr. Carter won.

Mr. Ford's advisors were of the type who would convince him the decent thing to do was to pardon Mr. Nixon for his alleged violations of the law—even before formal charges were preferred. And that's the point where Mr. Ford's advisors first went wrong. Regardless of emotionalism and quick-solution ideas of his advisors, Mr. Ford should have shown more respect for the nation's criminal justice system. It was originally designed to free the innocent and penalize the guilty although it has been diluted somewhat in the past years. When he opted to follow the dictates of his advisors, some of the Nixon coloration brushed off on him.

Mr. Carter gave Mr. Ford's character a one-word assessment as he made his formal victory announcement the day following the election. He damned Mr. Ford with no praise whatsoever when he described him as a "decent man." He didn't say Mr. Ford was intelligent, faithful, capable or morally strong. Just decent. With all of the adjectives that one could apply to the President, it is interesting that he used this one.

He used it as he was discussing "co-operation" and "transition." He could just as well have used "stupid" without adding much by the way of condemnation.

Mr. Ford may not have found the handle on operating the world's most complicated job—but he is not stupid. He was juggled into the job by a series of unbelievable events. Mr. Ford was a trusting man. His major fault was that he trusted too long. He trusted his president and that trust led to the agony of defeat.

And one of the simplest devices could have averted the scenario—a safety match. Nixon could have applied it to his tapes. They were his. He could have destroyed them. Mr. Nixon would have weathered the break-in storm and it would have saved Mr. Ford the trauma of being rejected from a job by his fellow Americans. Some will remember that he didn't want it at the beginning. He said that he would not seek election. But advisors convinced him that in would be in the national interest to perpetuate the party in power.

There can be no dispute regarding Mr. Ford's decency. He is also honest, truthful and of high moral character. If any credence is given to Mr. Carter's assessment, it can be associated with Mr. Ford's advisors who intended to guide him back into the White House. Their advice was fatally faulty. They simply didn't concern themselves with the needs of this nation in trouble.

They didn't advise programs to show that the president cares about people—and Gerald Ford does. People, since Watergate, needed warm and strong leadership, ala FDR. They needed to be given programs designed to reduce some of the nation's most pressing concerns.

Where were definite plans for problems which still face the nation? No leadership whatsoever was suggested for stemming inflation—such as urging business, labor and the government to co-operate in doing those things that would avert price hikes and reduce unemployment. His advisors apparently didn't think that was important.

Government bureaus are more numerous and powerful today than ever before—and growing. Yet, he was not urged to ask his public to help reduce both the number and the power of these faceless entities.

The president was not advised to do the positive things that would restore people's faith in the administration. Mr. Ford showed himself to be honest and sincere, but the shadow of doubt hovers over those high in the Republican hierarchy who still surround him.

Never once did he call together the people, the courts, the peace officers and the lawyers (via teevee) to join him in an all-out war on crime and corruption. Everyone knew anti-crime leadership was needed and it required a genuine crusade to stem it. But the guiding voice of capable advice was not heard.

Little attention was given to the burgeoning juvenile crime problem. How can the knowledge that too many American juveniles have more than a dozen entries in their police record go unnoticed? Nor has sufficient attention been given to the burgeoning illicit drug business. It possibly ranks with AT&T and GM in gross national income.

And morality. It goes hand in hand with crime. True, a couple of rules regarding wire-taps and break-ins were strengthened, but little attention was given to the eroding moral fabric that has been encouraged by the corruption unveiled at high government level during recent years.

At election time many voters felt they had sampled enough of the Ford regime to become convinced that it was lacking. In Jimmy Carter's words they saw hope although his reputation for double-talk did nothing to guarantee a better future for a discouraged nation.

Nevermind the illustration that has a chronic gambler telling friends on payday that he is heading for the card game at the corner saloon. "The game there is crooked," he was warned.

"Yes, but it's the only game in town," replied the gambler. And that's the way it was on election day. Carter offered the only game in town.

But using a completely honest deck, Mr. Carter can be the salvation of this nation in trouble.

Spenders Help Themselves

"Unfortunately, it is often the people's representatives who are the big spenders. And their inclination to spend, although many times aimed at helping those of our citizens who are in special need, commits the nation to a course of spending that is beyond its financial resources.

When this happens, the government necessarily goes further into debt and prints money to cover a portion of its indebtedness, thereby cheapening the value of our currency and giving an additional impetus to inflation."

La Mesa Gains 5,328 Residents

All of that unincorporated area north of Highway 94 is scheduled to become part of the City of La Mesa by January 1, according to Tom Lean, assistant to the La Mesa city manager.

What's more, he said, the tax bill of the new residents of the City of La Mesa will not be increased.

La Mesa City is picking up the taxes of the various districts to which this property belonged. This should assure these residents that their cost of living may indeed be reduced.

Lean pointed out that those who had been served by the State Department of Forestry for fire protection should enjoy a reduction in fire insurance rates. La Mesa has a rating of 3—an extremely high efficiency rating which gives residents a low insurance rate.

Those in the Lemon Grove Fire District will find the City of La Mesa tax bill reduced with the dropping of the L.G. F.D. .86 cent tax rate but city tax will be added.

The area which voted to annex contains 5,328 people, Lean said.

The formula for the annexation to the City of La Mesa is to canvass the vote and verify it to the city council. It is next certified to the County Board of Supervisors. From there it goes to the Secretary of State for approval.

All of that is to be done before January 1 so that the new residents will be taxed by the City of La Mesa rather than the County of San Diego in 1977.

Meanwhile, the County Board of Supervisors have set December 7 as the date for a hearing on the proposed incorporation of Lemon Grove. If approved, boundaries will be decided upon and the date for the election set. This is to be March 8.

If the election is approved, and boundaries set a tax rate for the proposed city will be established by the board of supervisors.

Last year before the La Mesa city opposition was voiced, the proposed tax rate was to have been 75 cents for each $100 assessed valuation. Changes in boundary and assessed valuation may change that figure.

A simple majority (50 per cent plus one) is required for passage. Registered voters whether they are property owners or not, will be eligible.

CB Radios Target in Valley Crime Spree

Electronic-device thieves were busy in Spring Valley on Election Night. They properly assumed that most people would be occupied with election returns.

Another reason is that a good CB radio is like $50 in the pocket on the stolen property market.

Here's what happened in one area of Spring Valley on election night. Losses were reported on November 3.

$440 Device

Paul Bernard Kaiser, 616 Osage st., told sheriff's deputies that his CB radio had been taken from his Toyota which was parked at his residence. It was taken between 2 and 6 a.m. while Kaiser was sleeping.

The device, a Rebyn SS 747 with call letters KEQ, was valued at $440.

Realistic-23 Ch.

A few doors away, the same night, a thief took the CB radio from the Opel owned by Bobby Edward House of 640 Osage st. Rouse said his 23-channel Realistic radio was worth about $100.

A Block Away

Scarcely a block from there, at 752 Osage st., a thief cut the wires to take Kenneth C. Casty's CB radio which was installed in his Chevy sedan. He did not establish the value of this device.

Car and All

Keeping the string of burglaries alive that night, a thief took Jack L. Fleming's '64 Chevy van from his residence

Money Getting Harder to Keep

It's getting harder to keep valuables, local business firms are discovering.

There was Sharon Lee Turco, 23, a bartender at the Rodeo Room Bar, 8300 Broadway, Lemon Grove, who told sheriff's deputies on November 4 that a patron of the bar volunteered to get her purse and shoes for her from her locked car in the parking lot.

Since the volunteer, a white male, about 30, known as Dick, had been a patron of the bar for about six months, there should be no reason to be suspicious.

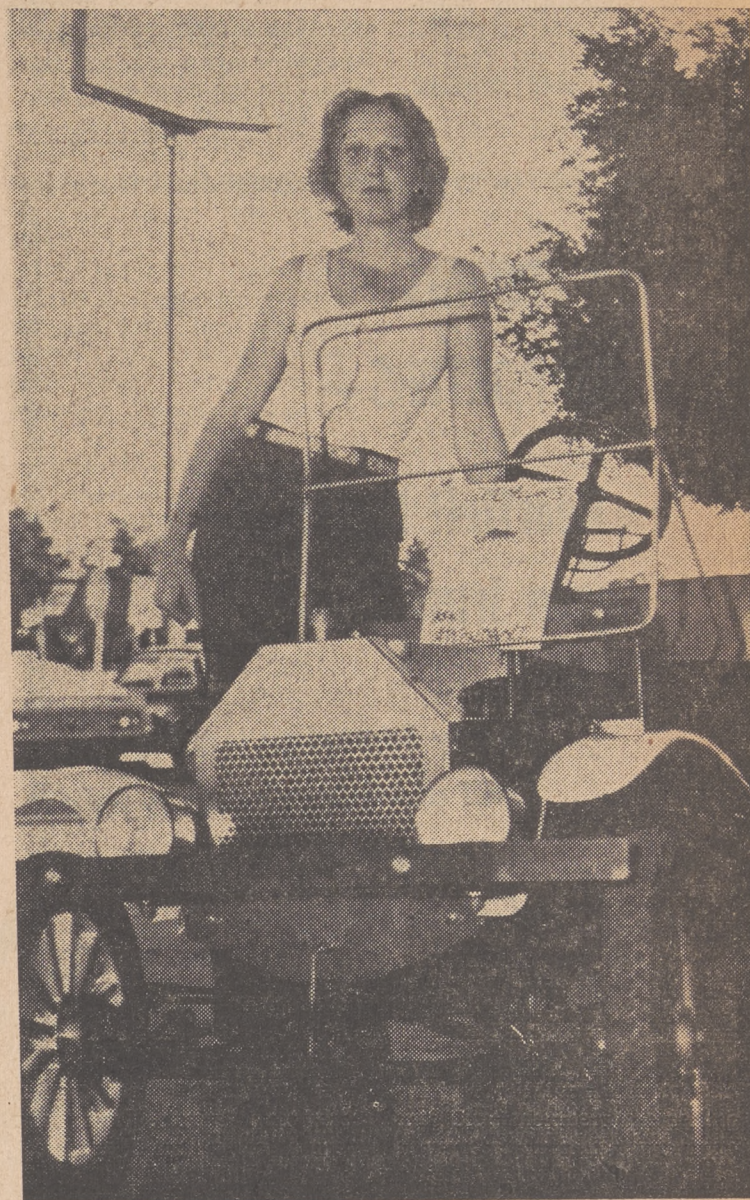

Turco gave "Dick" her car keys. He failed to return. Later, she discovered her purse with $100 in it was gone. Her shoes were still there.

In another incident, on November 7, a young couple, about 20, visited Ed Dreyer's busy Texaco station at 8749 Campo rd., Spring Valley.

She was attractively dressed in short-shorts. While the male asked permission to put water in his car, the female asked to be shown on a map the direction to Casa de Oro.

As Dreyer returned to gasoline pumps, a customer yelled "They took your cash box!"

And thus it was that Texaco station lost $250 in cash and a stack of credit card invoices.

THERE IS A FLIVVER IN YOUR FUTURE — Pretty Tamme Jackson poses with the model Flivver to be given by the Old Time Days Committee of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

The award will be made Saturday night, December 18, in the meeting room of the L.G. Fire Station. The contest is based on numbers and anyone may enter. Application blanks are available at most L.G. shops or by calling the L.G. CoC—460-9621.

The Flivver has a 3 1/2 hp engine and can speed along at 25 MPH. It is 72" long and 34" wide with a value of $1,000. The Franklin Saw Works will provide a motor tune up for the Flivver.

Two tickets each to the Chargers and Mariners and a bottle of liquor will also be given as prizes. Contestants for the liquor must be 21 years old.

Two Neighborhood Bands to Play In New Year's Day Rose Parade

Mt. Miguel's marching band will be joined by another neighborhood band of distinction in the 1977 Tournament of Roses Parade.

Helix High was informed this week that its band will also march in the nationally televised New Year's Day Parade in Pasadena.

It will be Mt. Miguel's eighth trip to the Rose Parade, Helix High's second.

Miguel was chosen at the County band review in Rancho Bernardo this fall. As a result, they will go as representatives of the City and County of San Diego.

Rose Parade judges selected Helix during state competition in Chino. They will represent all of Southern California.

Helix also appeared in the 1972 Rose Parade during band director Gerry Kirk's first year at the school. Kirk had previously taken Hilltop High of Chula Vista to a Rose Parade.

It was "quality plus variety," Kirk said, that influenced judges to pick Helix this year. A British theme, carried out with a variety of musical numbers, scored points with judges.

At the Rose Parade Helix will expand on that routine which includes "Rule Britannia," "Scotland the Brave," "The Hustle," and the up-tempo "Scotch on the Rocks." "We'll play fifteen to twenty minutes without repeating a note," Kirk said.

"As we did in 1972, we intend to play the entire route," he said. The band was lauded for their endurance by Rose Parade watchers five years ago.

Mt. Miguel's musicians promote a Spanish theme in their music and are having a typically successful year under the guidance of director Dean Immel.

The Matadors took Sweepstakes at a Poway band review, took first place and missed Sweepstakes by 1/10 point at the Chino review and won two 2nd Place finishes at two other contests this year. Mt. Miguel has participated in the Rose Parade in 1963, '64, '66, '69, '71, '74 and '75.

Helix will feature its team of bagpipe players but will be without its Helix High-Stepers marching drill team. Band selections do not include drill teams.

"The Rose Parade Committee is very particular about who gets to march," Kirk said.

Both bands are organizing fundraising projects. Mt. Miguel needs $5000 and Helix needs $7000 for the trips.

No specific activities have been scheduled yet for Helix, but donations are being accepted. Helix contributors should send checks payable to Helix Instrumental Music Association, to Helix High, 7323 University ave., La Mesa 92041.

Donors to the Mt. Miguel cause should contact the school at 463-5551.

Monte Carlo Night Is 1st Step Toward Rose Parade

The Mt. Miguel Marching Matadors—selected to represent the San Diego City and County at the Rose Parade—are in need of $5,000 to make the trip to Pasadena.

One of the first fundraising projects will be a Monte Carlo night at St. John of the Cross church, 8086 Broadway, Lemon Grove. The event is set for Saturday, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. and is restricted to adults, 21 and over.

Tickets at $5, will be available at the door or in advance by calling Mrs. Clair Cranker, 460-4534, or Dean Immel, 583-1280.

Tickets are exchanged for $12,500 in play money used to play Las Vegas games. Door prizes are drawn twice an hour and winnings may be used to bid on prizes to be auctioned off at the end of the night.

Entertainment is provided by Scruffy the clown and bellydancers Ahshgara and Shale-shaa.

The Mt. Miguel Music Parents Club members are selling a variety of nuts and fruitcakes, to further the cause. For placing orders, call Mrs. Shirley Wharff, 461-9689.

Church Glass Broken

Three windows and a glass door at the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints were broken by someone using a BB gun, it was reported Friday. The church is at 8477 Blossom lane, Spring Valley.

Myrra Lee is Teacher of Year

Myrra Lee, of Mayapan dr., Casa de Oro, has been named California's 1977 Teacher of the Year. Mrs. Lee, 50, is a social science teacher at Helix High school.

She is automatically nominated for consideration as National Teacher of the Year in a competition held annually in Washington, D.C.

Lee teaches Social Living, U. S. History and Women's Studies and has authored a two-volume guide for "Teaching About Women in History."

She spent 10 years as substitute teacher while raising two daughters and a son. She has been with the Grossmont District since 1970.

headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, New York, said that all meeting places and branch offices in that country have been closed. Publishing and distributing Bibles and Bible literature is forbidden.

His congregation was "shocked" at the move by the Argentinian government, he said.

During the past 25 years, he said, the preaching work of the Witnesses was well received by the Argentinian people, despite lack of official recognition by the government.

"With this background of favorable activity and the response our work has received among the people of Argentina," Donahue said, "we find it difficult to understand why this action was taken."

Obviously the position of Jehovah's Witnesses is misunderstood," he said. "It is our hope that liberty will soon be restored to Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina."

S. Baptists Convene in SD Next Week

The 36th annual session of the Southern Baptist General Convention of California, meets in San Diego November 15-18. More than 2500 messengers and visitors are expected at the meetings in the El Cortez Hotel.

Featured speakers include Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Board and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lindholm, foreign missionaries of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Also featured is Dr. Emmanuel McCall, Secretary of the Department of Cooperative Ministers with National Baptists of the Home Mission Board.

Foreign and home missions will be emphasized in the Women's Missionary Union conference. Musical groups from the Spanish, Vietnamese, Chinese and Japanese language missions in San Diego County will be heard.

UMW Bazaar Today

The United Methodist Women of Lemon Grove United Methodist Church will hold a bazaar and luncheon today and tomorrow.

Bazaar sales began at 9:30 a.m. this morning and continue through 5 p.m. Luncheon is planned from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

On Friday bazaar sales are conducted from 9:30 to noon. No luncheon is served on Friday.

The sale and luncheon are in the Fellowship Hall of the church, located at the corner of Washington and Roy sts., Lemon Grove.

The bazaar includes home baked items, candies, preserves, needlework, knitting, arts and crafts, plants, "white elephant" table and Christmas items.

'Kennedy's Children' Opens Tuesday at Globe

Five survivors of the idealistic, yet tragic 1960's form the core of "Kennedy's Children" opening Tuesday at the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park. Craig Noel directed the first San Diego production of the contemporary drama.

The Robert Patrick play will be performed through December 19.

Christian Jew Radio Founder At Local Church

The founder of the "Christian Jew Hour", Dr. Charles Halff, a German Jew converted to christianity at the age of seventeen, will be at the Fair Havens Baptist Church, 9255 Lamar street, Spring Valley for two services on Sunday, at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The "Christian Jew Hour" has an audience of more than five million listeners each day and radio broadcasts into foreign countries such as Russia, and the Mideast and maintaining missionary representatives in the U.S.A., Israel, Spain, India and other lands.

Dr. Halff came from a reformed Jewish background. He will be demonstrating the Jewish Passover during the 11 a.m. service. The public is invited.

Play Depicts Thoreau's Night Spent in Jail

Southwestern College presents "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" the nights of November 11, 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night at Mayan Hall Theatre.

The play deals with one of the first and more famous acts of civil disobedience in American History — Thoreau's refusal to pay his poll tax in 1846 and the night he spent in jail for it.

The play will be Southwestern College's American College Theatre Festival Entry according to Director William Virchis.

Vocalist, Pianist In 'Fall Musicales'

The Fall Musicales of the Women's Committee of the Grossmont Community Concert Assn. will be presented at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sydney P. Wiener at 1789 Hacienda pl., El Cajon.

The program will be on Wednesday November 17 at 10 a.m.

Artists will be Vesta E. Jenks, pianist; Tim Braden, baritone and Dr. Sydney Wiener and his antique recording devices.

A New York saloon on a rainy Valentine's Day is the arena in which the five strangers assemble to summarize private memories of the growing isolation, continuing frustration and lost ideals of a decade which began with noble purpose and ended in tragedy.

How our lives in the 1970's were influenced by events of the impassioned 1960's is revealed in "Kennedy's Children." Three women and two men share the bar surroundings to express long-suppressed memories, personal torments and private loss.

Diane Sincor, winner of 4 Atlas Awards is a saddened school teacher who lives with her memories of the Kennedy presidency with its promises destroyed before fulfillment could be achieved.

Kelsey Grammer, a paranoid Vietnam veteran, who proudly fought in Vietnam for the principles in which he believed, bares his guilt through unmailed letters home, his mind obliterated by drugs and his sanity destroyed.

Anne Krill, winner of 3 Atlases, is a political activist whose idealism has turned to cynicism. Fiercely dedicated, she began her protests in the early '60's, but now her beliefs and that of her generation have become eroded.

Gwen Haviland, a pathetic beauty queen dreams of replacing Marilyn Monroe as the ultimate sex symbol of America. The beginning of her collapse begins with the death of the film star. Unable to fulfill her fantasy, the failed actress has become a go-go dancer.

Performances are nightly except Monday at 8 p.m. plus Sunday afternoons at 2 p.m. through December 19.

Patrons are warned "Kennedy's Children" is a mature drama for adults. The infrequent use of certain words in the play, necessary to reveal character or express action, may be offensive to some patrons.

Connie Haines, Carters' Sister On Church Program

"Human Healing Potentials—1976," a one day program "to quicken and reinforce an awareness of the limitless inner healing potentials" will be offered at Golden Hall in the San Diego Convention Center Friday 9 a.m.-9:30 p.m.

It is sponsored by Unity Churches of El Cajon, Escondido and Vista.

Connie Haines, world famed vocalist; Charles King, actor-vocalist; Ruth Carter Stapleton, sister of the president-elect; three medical doctors, a counselor, a psychologist and several ministers of Christ Unity Churches in California are among those on the day-long program.

Advance tickets can be arranged by calling the San Diego Christ Unity Church at 284-1112.

Women Making Strides In Man's World: Labor Force

Lib or lip service? That's the question many budding plumbers, welders, electricians and others in the skilled trades are asking — if they happen to be women.

Today, thirty years after the heyday of Rosie the Riveter when millions of women went to work in wartime production, only 4 per cent or a half a million skilled workers are women. Yet, with a helping hand in the form of fair employment laws and a presidential mandate requiring affirmative action, prospects look bright for modern day Rosies.

Trades for the Ladies

"As a child I liked fixing things around the house but never considered it could lead to a job. Women are often made to believe that it's (work in the trades) not for them — that it's too hard," says Valerie Ash, a 24-year-old carpenter for Gulf Research who is also the stage designer and builder for a local rock group.

"But I knew what I wanted and went after it. I chose carpentry because it lets me be creative, I really enjoy it."

Is the work as hard as she thought? "No, it's all skill, learning how to use tools and technique. The work is not very demanding physically at all. Women shouldn't be afraid of it."

But, acceptance by older male workers is a problem. "They find it difficult to cope with a female carpenter who's old enough to be their daughter. They view you as a threat and want to only give you the cleaning up work to do. But you have to set them straight — that you are a carpenter like they are."

Word Gets Around

Other women who, for whatever reasons, choose to become hardhats may also be finding the path a little easier, according to the National Labor Department's Women's Bureau set up to promote equality of the sexes in the workplace.

"Women are making inroads due to a combination of factors," says Arleen Winfield, a career and employment opportunities specialist for women with the Bureau.

Among the factors she names are an affirmative action mandate which requires employers to make special efforts to hire women, Labor's Outreach Program of apprenticeships for women and minorities, and women's own awareness of the possibilities for a non-traditional career. "Word is getting around," says Ms. Winfield, "Women are becoming more knowledgeable about opportunities. Since 9 out of 10 women will work during their lives, and usually for 20-45 years, they need to plan much more realistically for their careers."

That the word is indeed getting around is confirmed by the steadily increasing number of women enrolling in trade school courses, one route into the workplace. While still a small percentage of total students, the surprising fact is that women are enrolling to be welders, electricians, and other skilled workers.

Why are women choosing the trades? Economics, basically these women are looking at the financial picture. A good carpenter will make substantially more than a secretary, for example. Women have the same economic needs that men do.

Economic Lib

In fact, economic liberation, probably more than women's lib, figures into the thinking of blue collar women since Department of Labor statistics show that experienced bricklayers, plumbers and electricians earn on the average over $16,000, with good wages typical of most of the skilled trades.

Fortunately, jobs as well as trained women are on the increase. As the economy picks up steam, employers are once again putting out the "help wanted" shingle, with some special emphasis on women.

Grove Librarian to Speak to Women's Club

Head Librarian Mrs. Neale Clifford of the Lemon Grove County Library is the guest speaker at the Monday meeting of the Lemon Grove Women's Club Vogue Section.

The concensus among employers, women, educators and federal officials generally seems to be that while progress is slow, here are opportunities now where there were none before. And more federal attention is going to be paid to opportunities in the construction trades in the near future.

But as one woman graduate of a vocational school summed up, "I just didn't want to look back on my life wishing I had been an electrician instead of a secretary. It was worth the hassles."

Information on trade and technical careers for women may be obtained by writing National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, 2021 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Local Rebekah to Dine with Assembly President Nov. 17

Mrs. Lorraine Childers, president of the Rebekah Assembly of California, will pay a social visit to Mesa Jewel Rebekah Lodge No. 409 Wednesday.

The state president will meet for a 5:30 dinner with lodge members at Sexton's Steak House followed by a meeting, 7:30, at the VFW Hall in Lemon Grove, 2885 Imperial ave.

Childers is a member of Silver Strand Rebekah Lodge of National City and a resident of San Diego. She is the first president of the Rebekah Assembly from the San Diego area in more than 50 years.

Fern Korab, Mesa Jewel Noble Grand, and Mrs. Jean Danley, Vice Grand, will greet Childers and her corps of officers.

This Week's RECIPE

Crepes for the Diet Conscious

Who says the real delicacies of the culinary arts are always the most fattening?

Here is a recipe for crepes — furnished by Weight Watchers International — which offers cuts on calories without cheating on flavor.

RICOTTA APPLE CREPES

- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 slice white enriched bread
- 1/3 cup ricotta cheese
- Artificial sweetener to equal 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/2 cup unsweetened applesauce
- cinnamon

In electric blender: combine egg, water and bread. Blend until batter consistency. Pour batter covering bottom of pan into a medium to hot non-stick skillet.

Cook crepe about 1 minute or until it is set and browned lightly on bottom. Loosen sides with a spatula. Lift crepe with fingers and turn it over. Brown the second side.

Add sweetener to ricotta cheese. Spread cheese and applesauce over one side of crepe (reserve 1 teaspoon of each).

Sprinkle with cinnamon; roll up. Dot the top with reserved cheese and applesauce. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Makes 1 serving.

Serving Suggestion: Serve crepe for lunch with Cucumber Spinach Salad or other vegetable combinations.

Kids Can See New Sibling At Hospital

A first-hand look at new baby brothers and sisters was extended to children visiting their mothers at Grossmont Hospital this month, the result of a change in hospital policy.

Former hospital rules prevented the privilege.

Administrator Ron Dahlgren said the change followed numerous requests from families and the hospital's desire to respond to community needs.

"We are trying to establish a more home-like surrounding for the family and still give mother and baby the necessary safety," said Basil W. Maloney, hospital chief-of-staff.

Children under 16 are still not permitted to visit patient rooms or corridors and are confined to an area in front of nursery windows.

An adult must be present at all times.

Christmas Cards Plus

Fifty per cent of the cost of Christmas cards can benefit research and patient services for diabetics in San Diego. The American Diabetes Association has a catalog of more than 100 Christmas cards available for purchase.

Electricity costs more when everyone uses it at once.

This time of year, more people use more electricity between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. than during any other time of day. A lot more. SDG&E calls it the "peak demand" period and it's important because it can affect your electric bill.

The peak peaks because everyone in the family seems to find more ways to use electricity around dinnertime. The peak costs money because SDG&E must be prepared to meet everyone's needs at once. Usually, this means using less efficient generating facilities.

SDG&E wants you to know about some of the things we will be doing to level off peak demand. Because these efforts can help to hold down your future electric bills.

Right now, SDG&E is working with very large commercial and industrial electricity users, trying to help them shift some of their uses to less busy times of the day or night. Since business, industry and government account for about two-thirds of SDG&E's total electric demand, this could be a big help.

However, most of the demand between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. comes from residential users. Like you. For this reason, SDG&E will soon begin asking you to help level electricity peaks too.

You can help by doing things that require electricity at times other than around dinnertime. Things like washing and drying clothes, running the dishwasher, baking and ironing. And be especially sensitive to unnecessary lights and unwatched TV sets.

Holding down peak demand can do a lot to hold down electricity costs. SDG&E will be telling you more about how to do it in the months ahead.

SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

Chargers Can See 2nd Place —If They Get Past Broncos

Denver has finished second in AFC West for the past three years.

The Chargers will attempt to replace them as runner-up this year.

To have a chance to achieve this lofty purpose the Chargers (4-5) must defeat the Broncos (5-4) on the turf of San Diego Sunday starting at 1:06.

To win would not guarantee anything but a chance. But such a win would set up an exciting chase down the 1976 home stretch.

The Chargers have not challenged for that, or any other high position, in the years of recent past but the team does show possibilities. Losing to Oakland, Pittsburgh and Baltimore could not be listed as a character weakness. Those are top rated teams not expected to succumb to a team rebuilding itself.

Sunday's Loss

Although compiling 23 first downs and 293 yards, San Diego was no match for the ram-paging Baltimore Colts, 37-21, before 42,827 at San Diego Stadium last Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Broncos stamped the Tampa Bay Buccaneers with a 38-point spree within a second half span of 8:23. Three Denver touchdowns were scored by the defense, making a total of nine touchdowns by its defense and special teams this year.

The Chargers remember one of them well. A 92-yard punt return by Rick Upchurch sparked Denver over San Diego, 26-0, at Denver on Oct. 3. Upchurch visits San Diego Sunday as the NFL punt return leader with a 16.7 average on 27 attempts with four touchdowns.

Defensesman Threat

San Diego will have to defense another Denver game-breaker Sunday. After facing Greg Pruitt, Franco Harris and Lydell Mitchell the last three weeks, the Chargers collide with Otis Armstrong, the fifth top runner in the AFC with 701 yards, a 4.3 average and four touchdowns. Armstrong also leads the Broncos in receiving with 25 catches for 317 yards.

Quarterback Steve Ramsey has such other dangerous receivers as tight end Riley Odoms, Haven Moses, Jack Dolbin and Upchurch.

A major Denver force is kicker Jim Turner. The 13-year veteran surpassed 1,200 career points last week and has scored 63 points and connected on 15 of 17 field goals this year.

A bright spot for San Diego against Baltimore was the Charger debut of Clint Longley. Making his first 1976 appearance, the former Dallas quarterback led San Diego to two late touchdowns by completing 8 of 11 passes for 90 yards including TD tosses of 28 and 10 yards.

San Diego leads the Chargers-Broncos series 19-13-1. The Broncos have captured the last three games including a 27-17 win at San Diego last year.

Charger Backers pre-game luncheon is scheduled for Friday noon at the Sheffield Room at Town and Country. Tommy Prothro, a player or two and Denver public relations director Bob Peck will give talks. The public is invited.

Next week, the Chargers travel to Buffalo to face O. J. Simpson and the Bills. Good seats to this week's game are still available.

SVP&R Dist. Track Meet Results Listed

Results of the Spring Valley Cross Country Race sponsored by the S.V. Park & Rec. District at the Mt. Miguel High school track on Thursday were:

7th graders, Backes, Archer and Orourke, all of Bonita Vista Jr. High finished 1, 2, 3, in the 7th grade 1 1/2 mile track. Backes set a record 9:22 with Archer in at 9:32 and Orourke at 9:44. Former record — 9:39.

Eighth graders Morable, Bonita Vista; Ridge, Spring Valley and Martin, Bonita Vista, were winners. Morable established a record 8:31. Old record — 9:23.

43 runners entered the meet. Poma, Mayor and McBride finished 4, 5, 6 among 7th graders; Lee Orosco and Evans finished 4, 5, 6 in the 8th grade class.

Aztecs (7-1) to Host Utah (2-7) Saturday

Coming off its biggest win of the season, the S.D. State U. football team hosts a rested Utah State squad Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

Last week the Aztecs ran their record to 7-1 with a 30-17 triumph over a San Jose State team that was favored by as much as 10 points. The Aztecs scored 13 points in the fourth quarter to break open a 17-17 tie and attain a measure of revenge for last year's 31-7 loss to the Spartans in San Jose.

"The win over San Jose might be my finest as a coach," said Aztec head mentor Claude Gilbert. "Saturday night's Aztecs were the most fired up and inspired team I've ever coached. We got great efforts on both offense and defense and everyone just gave 100 per cent."

The Utah Aggies beat Weber State 36-10 two weeks ago and had a bye last week to prepare for the Aztecs. The

Mariners to Return Wednesday After Three-Game Road Trip

Bouyed by three straight victories, the San Diego Mariners take to the road again this week for a trio of meetings against Western Division rivals.

San Diego plays at Eastern Division Birmingham, tonight, then switches to intradivision competition at Houston, Friday, and Phoenix, Sunday. The next home date for the Mariners is against Edmonton Wednesday.

The local skaters begin their road jaunt only two points behind division-leading Winnipeg. San Diego is one of four WHA teams without a home loss, showing four wins and two ties. The Mariners are 3-5-0 away from the Sports Arena.

Coach Ron Ingram has received standout goaltending from Ernie Wakely and Ken Lockett in recent games and his plan of rotating the pair seems to be bearing fruit.

Wakely has a 5-1-1 record and his 2.30 goals against average is the WHA's second lowest. In addition, he posted a 3-0 shutout against Indianapolis in his last performance to give him 12 WHA career blanks, one behind the high mark of 13 by former league netminder Gerry Cheevers.

Ingram is also pleased with the team's defense, led by Brent Hughes and all-star Paul Shmyr. Both have blocked numerous shots and Hughes got a game winning goal against Indy.

Offensively, centers Andre

Lacroix and Joe Norris have points in 11 of 14 games with Lacroix listing a team high 18 assists and winger Gary Veneruzzo topping the club with 11 goals. The Lacroix-Veneruzzo-Wayne Rivers line has been the most productive, coming up with 21 goals and 31 assists.

Overall, San Diego has picked up 12 power play goals and four shorthanded scores to six and one, respectively, by its opponents. The Mariners are averaging 3.71 goals a game and surrendering 3.43, but have given up only four goals in their last three contests.

Winger John French will be out two more weeks with shoulder and rib injuries. Center Bob Dobek was recalled from Southern League Charlotte after being sent there for two games.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The sports writing fraternity, despite all of our protestations to the otherwise, has proven once again we walk on feet of clay, speak in words both uncouth and unclear and oft times don't know what the hell it is that we are about.

Take Randy Jones' recent elevation to honors as an example. You remember Randy? Little left-handed wizard that labored large and long on the San Diego Padre's mound? He fired nine innings every fourth day in about an hour and a half? He wore a cap full of yellow hair and fired a 27-mile-an-hour fast ball to complement a sinker that fell off the table?

You remember Randy. Of course you do. Why, they even heard of him in New York City. And baseball writin' folks voted him the best "gol dang" pitcher in the National League this year. They gave him the Cy Young Award. You heard about that, didn't you?

Randy won 22 games and logged 25 complete contests out of 40 starts that carried him over 315 innings pitched. He was the winningest pitcher in the league and boasts of one of the lowest earned run averages with a minute 2.74. You can see, he really deserved the award.

Without Randy Jones, the Padres would have finished dead last, buried deep in the subterranean levels reserved for lost souls, wicked owners and uncaring managers.

Even with his blessed talent, Randy was able to kick the Padres only up one notch to fifth place in the six team Western Division. He is the rarest of all creatures, a winner on an unproductive club.

In all honesty, and in the actual voting, baseball folks couldn't deny Randy's efforts. But San Diego is not the "Big Apple" and in kind of a callous way, Randy was reminded he does not play in New York.

Randy Jones was announced winner of the National League's Cy Young award on election day. Not just any piddling election day. No sir. He wasn't upstaged by the mayor's race, or even a contest for governor.

Randy Jones got overlooked by presidential selection. He was second banana to Carter's squeaker over Ford. Now that bit of planning ought to go down with the guy that told General George Armstrong Custer to forget the Gatling Guns, he'd make better time without them.

Randy is not the type to hold a grudge, but one certainly hopes he remembers such slights when pitching against the New York Mets next season. New York, of course, being the town where Cy Young and other baseball votes are collected, counted and announced. Tsk, Tsk.

Jones is already getting ready for next season. He came out of his nerve trouble without a hitch and is ready to pitch. He's serving 'em up to tini-nights in the 7-through-10 age bracket in Roger Craig's Baseball Development School weekends out at Grassmont College and Randy says he's "Feelin' fine."

He's just sittin' back in the cat-bird seat waitin' for things to happen. The re-entry draft figures to give him a line on what he'll ask to toil for the Padres next campaign, and probably the next several campaigns after that.

"If anybody makes more money playing for the Padres than I do next year, I'll want to know why," is the way he put things in order.

And going in, he figures on a long term contract. The way things worked out, he didn't have to play out his option to earn recognition and the right to a raise.

But he's looking forward to the Padres landing a couple quality players in the current re-entry draft. A pair, one expects, that can add punch to the offense.

"If we can improve our club like that," he said, "and I can go to spring training without any problems, I don't think there's any reason I can't win 30 games next season."

He's not braggin'. He's a realist. Rumor has it the National League will go to the designated hitter rule in the next year or so. His answer to that:

"When you're six for 123, what can you say?" he smiled.

Yes, sir. Randy Jones is one helluva Cy Young award winner . . . no matter when or how those New York nasties decided to tell the world.

Sharks Wallop Aztecs

Paced by former S.D. Gull Willie O'Ree's 3 goals and 4 assists, the San Diego Sharks won their third straight game of the season Sunday evening. The victim was the S.D. Aztecs. The score was 13-3.

The S.D. State Aztecs suffered the loss in a very physical contest at the Mira Mesa House of Ice.

The Aztecs were not really out of the game until the final period. After a seven point surge by the Sharks, it was out of reach.

Bob Antos in the net for the Aztecs turned back 70 Sharks shots, while the Aztecs only slapped 17 shots on goal against Scott Miller.

Former Gull Jim Schraefel added two goals along with two assists. Brian Morenz, a former Mariner, also had a goal to go with his three assists. Other Shark scorers were Jack Webb, Rob McCallum with 1 goal and 3 assists, John Schacht with 1 goal and 2 assists, Gordy Sinclair, 1 goal and 2 assists, Marc Anfossi, 1 goal and 2 assists, Rory Roemich and Brian MacLean.

The Sharks host the West Covina Flying Eagles Sunday at Mira Mesa at 7 p.m.

COMBO Prizes On Display at La Jolla Museum

An $1,100 heirloom-quality gown for the December bride, a tux for the groom, a bottle of 1959 Chateau Mouton Rothschild for a good luck toast and a honeymoon cruise on Prudential Lines to South America are among COMBO auction items now on display at the La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art.

The public is invited to view and pre-bid on any of the 200 items in the exhibit until it closes on Wednesday. Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Tuesday, thru Thursday and 12:30-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The items in the exhibit, obtained by volunteer representatives of the Museum and donations secured by the 14 other member organizations of COMBO, (Combined Arts and Education Council of San Diego County) go on the auction block in December at two fund-raising events to benefit the arts.

Black Tie Dinner
On December 3, COMBO Riverboat '76, a black-tie dinner auction, will be held at the Hotel del Coronado; and on December 8, San Diego's three major television stations, Channels 8, 10 and 39, will broadcast COMBO Showboat Auction 7 p.m. until 2 a.m.

More than $300,000 is expected to be raised from both auctions.

Other auction donations on display include one of 10 antique oak phone booths from PacTel Co., valued at $200 a 14K gold charm bracelet with nine charms worth $1,350, a 6-foot long white fox fur valued at $200, and a Tasco 600 power telescope worth $395.

Collectors may want to pre-bid on an antique wooden barrel-top trunk (circa 1820) worth $450, a pair of Victorian mantel vases (circa 1860) worth $100, and an Australian trumpet shell (Syrinx aruanus) valued at $120.

Also included in the display are artworks by artists Donald Roller Wilson, Dorothy Stratton, Wing Howard and Fritz Werner. These and other pieces of art donated to COMBO will be sold to the highest bidder at a special art auction scheduled for March, 1977. COMBO office telephone is 234-0385.

State Scholarship Application Deadline Three Weeks Away

The California Student Aid Commission reminds high school seniors and college students planning to apply for a State Scholarship (Cal Grant A) or College Opportunity Grant (Cal Grant B) that the postmark deadline for mailing an application for these programs is December 4.

An expected 14,900 new scholarships for undergraduate college students and 6,825 College Opportunity Grants for college freshmen will be awarded by the Commission in April 1977.

Students who believe they will need financial assistance to pay for college expenses are encouraged to secure an application from their school or the Commission offices in Sacramento.

Those planning to compete for a State Scholarship must complete the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board no later than December 4.

$100 Waiting for High School Student

Any graduating high school student may be eligible for a $100 award offered by the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Soroptimist club, it was announced this week by Cindy Ratekin, club officer.

The award will be made on the basis of service to the community, dependability, leadership, and sense of purpose.

Applications may be obtained from Ratekin at P.O. Box 637, Lemon Grove, 92045.

State Teachers Salaries Among Top 3 in Nation, Says NEA Survey

California's teachers' salaries are in the top three in the continental United States, according to 1975-76 estimates of the National Education Association. The current California average salary for a classroom teacher is $15,200, compared to New York at $15,900 and Michigan at $15,540.

This puts the average California salary ahead of all the rest of the continental United States. Alaska and Hawaii are higher but must be discounted 30% for Alaska and 19% for Hawaii because the costs-of-living there are higher than in the continental United States. The costs-of-living are also higher in New York and Michigan than in California.

But California does not come out well in terms of other money spent on education. It ranks only 25th among the states in the money it spends on the education of each child.

California spent an average of $1,324 this year for each child in school compared to New York's $2,179. These figures cover regular school operating expenses including teachers' salaries, but do not include capital outlay for buildings, interest on debt, etc.

In the past five years, California increased the amount spent on each child by only $306 compared with New York's $821. Over a ten-year period, California ranks 47th in money spent per child. Figures are from the Statistics of Public Elementary and Secondary and Secondary Schools published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the National Education Association Estimates of School Statistics, 1975-76.

Employees' salaries and benefits are far and away the most costly aspect of operating a school system, accounting for 86% of the cost of operating the state's public schools.

California once ranked near the top of the nation in state financial support of schools, although it never reached the ideal 50-50 or better state-local sharing that 18 states have achieved. The highest state support came in 1953-54, with 47.5% of school cost being paid by the state. It is now less than 40%.

This year, more local school finance measures failed than at any time in history. Voters turned down twice as many bond issues and school tax increases this year as they did three years ago, passing only one-fourth of the issues put before them on the March and June ballots.

Both state and local support of schools is declining, although polls consistently show educa-

G'mont Dance Concert Is Three-Day Affair

Grossmont College will open its annual Fall Dance Concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 18, in the Student Center. The concert will be repeated Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20.

The public is invited to this annual fall event.

Admission is $2; to students and senior citizen gold card holders $1.50.

tion as a priority items of citizens.

"We are concerned about the failure of the state of California to ever develop systematic, long range, equitable support of schools", said Joseph M. Brooks, Executive Secretary of the California School Boards Association.

"California has come to rely, to an excessive extent, for the financing of education, on the local property tax and I am quite sure that any local property taxpayer would concur."

"The difficulty at the ballot box puts on added pressure for overall reform of our method of financing public schools and the equalization of school support and educational opportunity as required by the Serrano Court Decision," Brooks said.

In the Serrano Case, filed in 1983, the court held that the current system of financing public education violates the equal-protection-of-the-law provision of the California Constitution.

Because the financing system is largely based on revenue from local property taxes, there is too much variance between districts in the amount of money spent per child and this disparity results in unequal educational opportunities.

The final court action in the Serrano Case is expected before the end of the year. In the original court decision, the Legislature was given five years to develop a satisfactory program. The expected court action could extend that time or reinstate the current five-year period.

New Book is For Local Parents, Future Parents

A book written especially for San Diego parents of young children is arriving in local bookstores this month. Its title: Knee-High San Diego — a Survival Guide for Parents, Pregnancy to Preschool.

The author-publishers — Nancy Stockwell, Carolyn Hultgren, Cheryl McKinney, and Judith Kirsten — are themselves mothers of young children.

All four have had babies in San Diego hospitals and, consequently, have searched the city and county for help with the problems of raising young children. The 300 page book answers questions parents ask most often during those exhilarating but confusing early years with children.

The book, which sells for $4.95, contains sixteen chapters with information including how to find childbirth education classes; how to find an obstetrician, pediatrician, or family practice specialist; where to go for children's clothing and equipment; and where to find unusual toys.

The authors also discuss San Diego parks that children love, Tijuana with tots, and low cost medical care in San Diego county.

Airman Pearl Allen

Air Force Reserve Airman Pearl M. Allen, daughter of Mrs. Joan P. Allen of 1132 Jamacha Ln., Spring Valley, has graduated at Lackland AFB, Texas, from Air Force basic training.

The airman, who studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations, now goes to Sheppard AFB, Texas, for specialized training in the medical service field.

Airman Allen is a 1974 graduate of Kearny High School, San Diego.

Sgt. Philip Weigle

Army Sergeant First Class Philip L. Weigle, whose wife,

Felicie, lives at 740 Ramona ave., Spring Valley, was one of thousands of American and Allied troops who took part in NATO Exercise Reforger 76 in Germany.

Reforger 76 was two separate major field training exercises conducted in the states of Bavaria and Hessen, Germany. It included participating elements of NATO forces of the U. S., Belgium, Canada and Germany.

Different from past reforgees, this year a U. S. based unit was deployed to Europe with its equipment instead of picking up equipment already stored. Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands are playing an active part in receiving and deploying equipment from areas in their countries.

Signalman Byron Hunt

Navy Signalman First Class Byron D. Hunt, whose wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hadzima of 3003 Central ave., Spring Valley, is participating in Exercise "Kangaroo II," the largest peacetime training operation ever held in Australia.

He is a crewmember aboard the tank landing ship USS San Bernardino, homeported in San Diego.

He was one of more than 32,000 sailors, Marines, soldiers and airmen from the U. S., Australia and New Zealand taking part in the three-week exercise. The tri-nation exercise, involving more than 40 ships and nearly 250 aircraft, is designed to test and evaluate plans for combined "ANZUS" operations in a simulated combat environment.

"Kangaroo II" is being conducted in the Tasman and Coral Seas and along the eastern Australian coast. It centers on a major amphibious landing by U. S. forces and a subsequent link-up of the assault units with Australian and New Zealand ground forces for follow-on, combined land operations.

Special Districts Grow in State

Special Districts — covering everything from fire protection to cemetery service — are on the rise in an urbanizing, organizing California.

In addition to 412 cities, 58 counties and 1,342 school districts, California taxpayers are supporting more than 4,650 local special service districts with the number going up steadily, according to State Controller Kenneth Cory.

Local voters just turned down one of the latest districts, a local park maintenance district in Spring Valley. Lakeside residents did the same on another park district last week while the communities of Fallbrook, Montgometry, Santee and San Diego approved similar measures.

"Not only are these districts increasing, the increase is almost entirely in those types of districts with the greatest potential for developing new sources of income and increasing public debt without requiring direct approval by the voters," Cory said.

California experienced a net increase of 49 such districts during the prior year. There were 149 new districts (including consolidations) formed during the year. One hundred were dissolved.

The new districts included 22 for joint exercise of powers and 18 for non-profit corporations formed to carry out joint powers agreements," Cory said. This indicated increasing reliance on shared financing of capital expenditures instead of using pay-as-you-go methods or seeking voter approval of bond issues.

The report shows 212 joint powers districts and 101 non-profit corporations. There is now an established growth pattern in the types of districts which offer either a broad spectrum of services or the ability to finance capital expenditures for local government units."

The largest single category of special districts is County Service areas, 679 as compared to 633 a year earlier. Maintenance districts are the third largest category at 447, up 15 in a year. Both types of districts can be used to provide a broad range of services. Fire Protection Districts are the second largest category at 465.

Los Angeles County continues to lead in special districts with 427 while San Diego County was second with 235. San Diego gained 41 during the past year.

Studies Uncover Heart Risks Aplenty - In School Children

Recent surveys performed on "healthy" school children have revealed a shockingly high incidence of risk factors — elevated blood cholesterol, hypertension, obesity, smoking and a family history of heart disease — in school children, particularly in the adolescent age group.

In a survey of middle and upper middle class youngsters almost 25 per cent had at least one of these risk factors and in 5 per cent, two factors were present.

Although past studies of similar groups are not available, it is quite likely that this current group of children will be the next generation of adults with coronary heart disease, according to a Heart Assn. spokesman.

The Heart Association recommends a "calm and rational" approach to explaining the importance of trying to prevent coronary heart disease to teenage children. "Teenagers are very health oriented and are more concerned than you might think," an Assn. publication says. Annual physical examinations are encouraged, as are serum cholesterol tests, when recommended by the family doctor.

The Heart Assn. urges parents and children to stop smoking if that is their habit and to make sure non-smoking children are aware of the physical consequences of smoking.

Exercise and proper diet are other preventives to coronary danger signs in teens.

The organization's recommendations: Don't provide a taxi service. Make sure children walk or ride their bikes. Limit time spent gazing at the television set.

Parents should limit their own and their offspring's amount of food intake, particularly cutting down on foods containing animal fats and carbohydrates.

The best time to prevent heart disease and reduce the risk of coronary attacks is during the younger years, when the disease process is probably reversible, the Assn. advises.

Letters To The Editor

Grateful Candidate

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank you and your staff for the excellent coverage of the candidates during the recent campaign for the Lemon Grove School Board.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all of the people who worked on my campaign and I am grateful to those persons who showed their interest in the welfare of our school district by supporting me with their votes.

Sincerely,
Carol Chubb

To Try Again

Dear Editor,

The Lemon Grove School Board election is now over and the citizens have made their choice. I would like to thank you for your efforts to objectively publicize and report the election campaign and specifically, the candidates' forums held at San Altos and Lemon Grove Junior High School.

Though I am disappointed the voters did not select me to represent them, I am extremely pleased with the 2,236 voters who supported me. It is now time to move forward with resolving the concerns of the citizens: (1) greater emphasis on basic education, (2) more structure (discipline) in the classroom, and (3) greater efforts by the Board to get parents input in their decision making process. I urge all concerned citizens to join me in helping the Board deal with these issues. To those who voted for me, please be assured of my continuing interest and concern with education in Lemon Grove. I will be a candidate against in March, 1977.

Winner Says 'Thanks'

Dear Editor,

This is to thank both the business and residential community for their confidence in me by electing me to the Lemon Grove School Board last week.

Without the effort of my campaign managers — Rita Mahon, Barbara Fletcher and Tammy Jackson — together with precinct workers Darlene Brown, Charlene Wells, Jim Robinson and the Jackson family, my campaign would not have been successful.

The support of John Stenbeck, the Reverends Orville Butcher and George Walker Smith, and others was greatly appreciated.

Andreen Says 'Thanks'

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your help with the campaign.

We can be proud of the support and endorsements we received and of the fact that ours was an issue-oriented campaign.

Again, my warmest thanks.

Sincerely,
Phil Andreen
Assembly Candidate
79th District

Thanks from Kenrick

Dear Editor,

To the nearly 58,000 voters in the 2nd Supervisorial District and to the hundreds of volunteers who worked so hard in my campaign, walking precincts, manning phones and contributing in many, many ways I wish to extend my sincere thanks.

All of us share the disappointment of coming close but not winning, in the November 2nd election.

The disappointment, however, is tempered with the knowledge that we ran a good race and one that we can be proud of in every respect.

The Walt Kenrick volunteers, are the greatest!

To all voters and workers alike, I say "thanks".

Sincerely,
Walt Kenrick

EPIC Thanks

Dear Editor,

E.P.I.C. would like to extend its appreciation to the many families in Lemon Grove who on Halloween so graciously responded to EPIC's Trick or Treat for emergency food supplies.

The donated food will go a long way toward meeting the needs of many families whom EPIC will help over the holidays.

The EPIC pumpkin carolers didn't get to everyone, however, and if you would like to contribute foodstuffs to the emergency food supply, please call 464-3742 and arrangements can be made.

Thank you from EPIC to all the families who helped out on Halloween.

Sincerely,
Ellie Fishman

Grossmont District Scouts Get Awards Friday at Dinner

The Grossmont District of the Boy Scouts of America hold their Annual Recognition Awards Dinner Friday, 6:30 p.m. at the Grossmont Student Center, Grossmont College.

The program begins at 7:30 and is preceded by a pot luck dinner.

The Grossmont District serves troops in El Cajon, Jamul, Spring Valley, Mt. Laguna, Lakeside, Alpine, Campo, Descanso, Da Mesa, Lemon Grove and Santee.

Cyclist Struck By Auto in Lemon Grove

A San Diego man, James Paul Ward, 29, of 2752 Alta View dr., was injured when the bicycle he was riding was struck by the car driven by Harold Edward Erickson, 66, of 7570 Cuyamaca ave., Lemon Grove.

The accident occurred about 4:30 p.m. Thursday as Erickson was making a left turn on Skyline dr. near Lincoln st. in Lemon Grove, according to CHP officers.

Supervisor, Mayor Urge County Pledge In 'Smoke-Out'

Lee Taylor, Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, and Mayor of San Diego Pete Wilson have joined the Mayors of Los Angeles and San Francisco and other California officials in declaring November 18, "The Great American Smokeout."

The American Cancer Society hopes to get one million California smokers to pledge a day off from cigarettes for that one day.

Volunteers and staff are promoting the "Smokeout" by distributing pledge cards. The pledge gives a smoker important psychological help.

Spring Valley Community Aid To Meet Friday

A general meeting of the Spring Valley Community Aid, Inc. has been set for Monday, 9:30 a.m. at McDonald's at Sweetwater and Jamacha rds. to discuss ways and means of providing Christmas baskets for Spring Valley needy.

According to Effie Breidenstein, a member of the organization, donations of all types are needed — food, good used toys, clothing and money. Unemployment this year is creating a greater demand for aid than in years past, she said.

Last year more than 100 baskets of food were distributed to local families.

The group holds a rummage sale each year in October which provides some of the needed funds.

In addition to donations, volunteers are needed. Those who wish to take part in the project should call Mrs. Hall at 475-0219; Mrs. Bowman, 469-7972; Mrs. Duncan, 466-4631 or Mrs. Breidenstein 465-4206.

The Friday meeting is open to the public.

Soroptimists Give $3,750 in Awards

A special scholarship of $2,500 is being administered by the Soroptimist Club of Lemon Grove-Spring Valley for the McCall Life-Pattern Fund.

The scholarship, available to any woman in the Soroptimist Pacific Region, is in addition to the Soroptimist Local Award of $250 and Regional Awards of $1,000 each.

A guideline for the McCall award is that the candidate be the head of a household or have a family financially dependent on her. Preference will be given the woman who has not completed college. Depending on need and the course of study, the recipient may be eligible for either the $1,000 or $2,500 award.

Write Cindy Ratekin for applications at P.O. Box 637, Lemon Grove, 92045.

McGee, Schimpf Star In Griffins Loss

Coach Dave Jordan's Grossmont College football team will attempt to regain its winning form Saturday afternoon in Aztec Bowl when the Griffins host South Coast Conference rival San Diego Mesa College in the Third Annual Toys for Tots Charity Bowl.

Kickoff is 1 o'clock. Saturday's contest will be the first time a Grossmont athletic team has participated in a charity game. The Griffins hope their new experience will provide the spark they need to turnaround a season that has suddenly become a bit on the disappointing side.

Grossmont opened the 1976 campaign by sweeping to three straight victories. However, the Griffins have since lost four of their last five decisions.

The Griffins are 1-3 in South Coast competition, including a frustrating 17-9 loss at Santa Ana last weekend. The host Dons scored 14 points in the span of just 60 seconds in the fourth quarter to record the upset.

About the only bright spots in the Griffins' latest loss were wide receiver Kerry Schimpf and running back LeRoy McGee. Schimpf caught 11 passes for 140 yards, while McGee rushed 19 times for 83 yards.

Schimpf, a sophomore who missed two games early in the season due to injury, has caught a conference-leading 42 passes for 551 yards and two touchdowns.

McGee has galloped for 664 yards and three touchdowns on 105 carries to rank as the third-best single-season rusher in Griffin history. He needs just 110 yards to move into second place.

The quarterback spot is once again up for grabs as Jordan has not yet decided whether Jim Freitas or Steve Perdue will start Saturday's game against Mesa. Freitas had a poor night at Santa Ana, hitting just 10 of 27 passes for 133 yards. Perdue in a brief appearance last week, hit on three of five aeriels for 31 yards.

Platform Tennis Play OK'd by A.P.T. Assn.

The first step in making the World Series of Platform Tennis a reality for San Diego has been reached, Tom Carlyon said this week.

Carlyon, director of the Carbrillo Athletic Club, site of the June tourney, said the American Platform Tennis Assn. has officially sanctioned the event.

The World Series of Platform Tennis will bring sixty-four of the world's best platform tennis players to San Diego June 19-25. The tourney will feature both men's and women's events.

Carlyon said it may be the first major tournament in any sport in which prize monies will be equal for both men and women's divisions.

Japan has sent 5 million salmon eggs to the State of Washington.

G'mont Hospital Med. Tech. Class Ranked 3rd Best

Grossmont Hospital's School of Medical Technology was ranked third out of 666 participating schools in the National Certification examination given by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, announced Carolyn Wedberg, education coordinator for the hospital's school.

The ranking was based on the fact that four of Grossmont's students scored among the top three schools in the nation on the August 1976 national board exam according to a statistical report released this week.

The students were Charles W. Ham, Robin L. Henderson, Carol E. Perry, and Cathryn Shuler.

Shuler scored 180 out of a possible 200 points, placing her number 24 in the nation. Over 5700 students took the nationwide exam. The Grossmont students averaged 170.25 points.

Wedberg said this was the highest score received in the 11 years of the hospital's operation of the school.

Highway Commission Approves Freeway Aids, Transit Funds

The California Highway Commission recently allocated $23 million for highway improvements in San Diego County and $4.06 million for the San Diego Metropolitan Transit Board.

Part of the $23 million budget will pay for ramp metering devices and carpool bypasses at various locations on Rts. 94 and 125.

The $4.06 million comes from 1976-77 State Highway Funds collected from gasoline tax.

The money will be spent as seen fit by the Transit Development Board to develop a mass transit guideway system in San Diego.

If those funds are not needed immediately, they will accrue for five years for future use. Afterwards, unused funds are returned for highway purposes.

Tax Exemption Given If Noted on Tax Bill

All San Diego County property owners who owned and occupied their homes as of March 1, this year are urged to check their 1976-77 tax bills to insure they are receiving a Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption. The recommendation is made by County Assessor E. C. Williams.

A person who owned and lived in his residence on the first of March, 1976, is eligible for this $1,750 assessed value Exemption (assessed value is computed as 25% of the Assessor's opinion of the current full market value).

If a homeowner, according to Williams, neglected to apply for it, he may still file a claim in the Assessor's office at 1600 Pacific Highway by December 1, 1976, and if eligible receive 80% of the exemption.

Western Heroes Get Nostalgia Show in '77

Buck Jones, Hopalong Cassidy, Hoot Gibson, and Ken Maynard — heroes of countless Saturday matinees of yesteryear — will once again thrill their fans from the silver screen during San Diego Western Film Convention '77... a three-day festival of old western features, serials and TV shows, to be presented January 21-23, 1977, in the El Cortez Hotel Convention Center in San Diego.

Movie and western film buffs from across the country will be attending this event to relive the adventures of their favorite western film stars, many of whom will be appearing in person as well as on the screen.

Featured during the event will be a large dealers' room offering such nostalgia items as old movie posters, radio premiums, comic books and other collectibles from the past for sale and trade.

Some Parents Fail to See Problem In Teen's 'Harmless' Drinking

The following is one of a series on the facts regarding alcoholism in this country. It is prepared by the Alcoholism Council of San Fernando Valley, an affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Oceans of tears are shed for unfortunate heroin addicts. Parents of some teenagers sigh with relief on being assured that their offspring are only guzzling great amounts of "harmless" booze rather than using "smack."

Yet the fact remains that there are twice as many teenage alcoholics in the United States as there are users of heroin of all ages.

Records show that, on the list of drugs most responsible for deaths from "over use," alcohol stands first. Tobacco is second and marijuana third. And, in truth, millions are unaware even that alcohol is a drug — in the same family with ether and barbiturates.

Growth Rate Noted

The most shocking truths about the results of juvenile use of booze comes from France, where the "culprit" is wine. It has long been a practice of some mothers to give spoonfuls of wine to babies — to help them sleep. Physicians report thousands of instances where boys and girls of 6 and 7 suffer convulsions, hallucinations and delirium tremors after their supply has been cut off.

Inasmuch as government figures show that more Americans of all ages are drinking more and more as each year passes, it should not be astounding to learn that teenage drinking has skyrocketed. This growth is especially noticed in states that have lowered the legal age for buying and drinking to 18.

A PTA survey revealed that 75 per cent of all high school students questioned drink and that more than half of these admit to serious problems with alcoholic beverages.

Curiously, in a great many instances young people who develop a dependency on alcohol become aware of the realistic facts about the addiction and recover from it far quicker and more thoroughly than adult alcoholics.

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous find it is not unusual for a teenage alcoholic to find sobriety in AA while the mother or father will keep on stubbornly "exercising the right to run my own life," and guzzle into stupors night after night.

One girl of 12 told the volunteers at the Alcoholism Council that she has to tell her mother she is going to church when she sneaks off to AA meetings. Her mother refuses to believe that AA is for either her or her daughter.

For years she has been mumbling, "AA is for weaklings, I'll quit when I get good and ready. Nobody can get me sober." That, at least, is so very true.

Students Drink

Statistics point out that arrests for girls 18 and under while intoxicated has more than tripled during the past ten years. In the same decade, such arrests for boys leaped two and a half times.

The Alcoholism Council of San Fernando Valley, in the United Way Building, Van Nuys (telephone 785-8861), reports nationwide figures that give the surprising fact that, while 32 per cent of all adult Americans are total abstainers, only 14 per cent of all high school students say they are tee-totalers.

If environment has any influence on youth using booze, one should feel alarm at reading an official estimate that 20,000,000 children today live in homes where someone is suffering from alcoholism.

Encouragement of the young to tinkle can start in complete innocence. A valley young lady of 22, named Diane, who already has advanced cirrhosis of the liver although sober two years, says her first taste for booze came when giggly social drinkers fed her grogsoaked olives and fruit slices from their cocktails.

Warning Given

When she or friends could not raid family bars without discovery, anyone with cash could get a bottle if she was artful. Any quaking wino can be given money for two bottles to buy — one for him and the other for the "little angel."

One consulting psychologist in Chicago, Dr. Philip Reidda, warns against the urging of parents for offspring to have "kiddie cocktails" in restaurants. Adults often believe this approach will introduce children to the facts of life.

Dr. Reidda insists that such "free-thinking" parents should explain that this tasty "Shirley Temple cocktail," if spiked with a slug of booze, could lead someday to big, painful problems.

Drinking beverages that do taste good and may make one feel elated and carefree is a natural thing for a youth to do. So, it is not astonishing to be told that "pop" wines, those inexpensive fruit-flavored zippy "softdrinks" have amassed a sales growth from 3,000,000 gallons in 1968 to 33,000,000 in 1973. This product contains 9 per cent alcohol, about twice that of beer.

Sales Tax Yo-Yo'd To County Cities

$56.8 million in sales and use tax was returned last week to California cities and counties from which it was collected — less operating costs.

In San Diego County these funds were disbursed:

Carlsbad	$ 60,000
La Mesa	118,700
National City	137,500
Oceanside	86,250
San Marcos	22,500
Vista	37,500
Escondido	180,000
El Cajon	212,500

Sierra Club President To Speak at Banquet

The national president of the Sierra Club will be speaking in San Diego this weekend.

The annual banquet meeting of the San Diego Chapter of the Sierra Club is held Saturday in the Ballroom of the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park. The meeting features Calkin who will discuss goals of the organization. The public is invited.

Reservations are made at the Sierra Club office, 233-7144.

Nearby Retirement Village To Feature Garden Setting

A construction of a new retirement residence for active senior citizens is under way in La Mesa.

Regency Park, at 5740 Lake Murry blvd., will include 202 efficiency and one-bedroom living units 275 to 450 square feet in size.

A project of Regency Inns of America, the $3 million complex will be able to accommodate approximately 300 residents when completed next summer, according to Ed Davis, Regency's director of market research.

The residential complex will include central dining facilities where three meals a day and snacks will be prepared and served. Other features include a recreation center with a complete program for residents which will include movies, gardening, games, exercise classes, field and shopping trips, art classes, dancing, putting greens, a health spa, mini-bus service, a barber and beauty shop, library and religious services. A security system is also provided.

Davis said Regency Park, the largest of nine facilities built by the firm, is an example of the new garden apartment concept in senior citizen residences. "The old-age home is gone, replaced by a garden apartment setting with extensive leisure time activities planned for all residents," Davis explained.

Costs will be based on a monthly fee which will range from $350 to $1,500.

Contact may be made at (213) 826-0967.

'Guys & Dolls' Set For December Run

The classic "Guys and Dolls," a musical fable of Broadway, is presented by City Stage Productions Fridays through Sundays, December 3-12.

The play is a production of the USIU School of Performing and Visual Arts.

Currently a smash revival on Broadway, the musical is based on the characterization of Damon Runyon.

PROPHETIC — A State Senate resolution of commendation is handed to Helix Water District general manager Byron Miller (right) by State Senator Jack Schrade. Miller is retiring this month after 25 years of service.

The picture was taken prior to the November 2 election and Schrade didn't know at the time that he, too, would be retired by the California electorate.

On the credit side is that Schrade, 74, has served his senatorial district for 22 years until he was defeated by a landslide vote by his opponent, Bob Wilson, 150,000-79,000.
